Under Minnesota Statutes §116L.35, the Commissioner of the Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) is required to provide an inventory of all economic and workforce development programs, either provided by or overseen by any agency of the state of Minnesota and funded by federal or state dollars. This bi-annual report is mandated to include a summary of any workforce or economic development programs, including a description, funding source and allocation, a count of full-time equivalent staff, number of program participants and their demographics, where applicable, and quantifiable measures of program success. Demographics and outcomes provided are for the period noted in the summary. No direct appropriations made to organizations by the legislature are included in this inventory.

Policy is our largest barrier, while the SCBG allows prioritization for underserved communities, but we aren't allowed to ask applicants to identify that they meet the definition of an underserved population, we are required to use a general term that encompasses beyond that focus.

EMPLOY Program

Description: EMPLOY is a voluntary employment service program providing work readiness and job search preparation for individuals that have 24 months or less to serve in their sentence. Our mission is to reduce recidivism by providing participants with the necessary tools to locate, gain, and retain gainful employment. We accomplish this through offering work readiness and job search training, providing education to employers about creating fair hiring practices within their companies and the benefits of hiring from the second chance population, connecting skilled participants with the appropriate job lead, offering follow up support, and encouraging positive change. The EMPLOY Program prepares participants not only for successful reentry into the world of work, but to ensure they are successful with job retention, thus helping employers fill the employment void left by low unemployment and high job vacancy numbers. Additionally, EMPLOY works with employers to help them identify their workforce needs/desired skills/training and certifications requirements, discuss hiring practices, market skills and experience of specific candidates, inform employers of Work Opportunity Tax Credit and Federal Bonding Employer Incentives.

Target Population: Individuals (e.g., students, career seekers, or the general public)

Yes

Please provide information on why your agency or department needs increased funds for this program.

There is a need to increase employment readiness and retention among the incarcerated, and connections to living wage jobs for those released from facilities. Investing and expanding the evidence-based DOC EMPLOY Program, making it available to all persons releasing from prisons. Additionally, 95% of the incarcerated population will one day be back living in our communities. Our safety depends on these individuals coming out of prison successfully – as supportive family members, good neighbors, taxpayers, and stable employees. Data shows that individuals with meaningful job opportunities when they are released are less likely to re-offend and go back to prison. The impact is also inter-generational as the children of formerly incarcerated parents who are gainfully employed have more successful outcomes into adulthood. EMPLOY Program services will lead to increased numbers of people that are more job ready to connect rapidly to employment post-release and improve linkages for those needing training and skill building through community partnerships. Stronger participant post-release follow-up and increased support services will increase job retention and career laddering.

Please provide information on the planned use of the increased funds. Approximately 4,500 individuals are preparing for release from an MCF annually and will receive EMPLOY services based on individual need and employment readiness. This will mean increasing current program capacity by a minimum of 400%. Therefore, more dedicated EMPLOY staff will be needed to be available to handle the increase in program participation to deliver services for this increased number of participants. This will increase the use of this evidence-based employment practice, homegrown and embedded within our agency; one that is known to improve employment outcomes of participants. It also strengthens community partnerships within impacted persons' communities, stretching our reach across the state with interventions that matter.

Please describe what barriers get in the way of your program serving more diverse populations. More than 80% of individuals served by Adult Education are Black, Indigenous, and/or People of Color. Adult Education is a small system that often finds itself between two large systems: K12 and postsecondary. Adult education serves adults who may not have been successfully served in K12 and/or in other systems. The need to partner with education, workforce development, cultural organizations, and other partners is essential. Funding is our primary limitation in offering more programming and/or more comprehensive services.

Please describe what barriers get in the way of your program serving more diverse populations. These grants are only for 2 years (biennium) which is not best practice for grant funding, which should be 3 to 5 years. Because they are two years and awarded in the summer after the legislative session, schools, schools don't receive the award in time to implement courses in the fall. So it effectively becomes a 1 to 1 1/2 year grant. A three year minimum would provide more time for schools to implement the program and for MDE to evaluate effectiveness, create training to improve program effectiveness, and make policy/system recommendations.

On average, how long do participants engage with this program? Adults engage with this program for at least one semester but as long as four years, depending on how much college credits they need to complete a teacher licensing program. Students typically participate during one school year, though several enroll in similar classes in following years.

Do you collect demographic information about individuals who are served by this program? Yes

- Demographics of Individuals Served: Data not yet compiled. The adult pathway program requires that at least 80% of grant funding be spent on scholarships and stipends for People of Color. The student pathway program requires that the demographic participation of the students participating in the career exploration activities meet or exceed the percent of students of color population of the school itself.

Outcomes for Individuals Served: We regularly meet with grantees and use their program reports to inform policy, planning and evaluation. One example is if we see that the demographics of participants are under what the grant requires, we meet with grantees to problem-solve. We also form communities of practice and do other networking strategies among grantees so they can learn from one another.

Number of Communities Served: Not Applicable

Does this program have an equity focus? Yes

Please describe what barriers get in the way of your program serving more diverse populations. While our grantees are committed to the success of the grant program, our field is predominantly white and, as such, does not always understand the barriers that People of Color face in navigating school systems, teacher preparation programs, etc.

Please provide information on why your agency or department needs increased funds for this program.

The demand for additional technical assistance throughout Minnesota keeps increasing with limited funding resources available. Through the Notice of Funding SBA mandate, we are required to provide more technical assistance in specialized areas without an increase of funding (cybersecurity, international trade, etc.). Post-pandemic demand has increased for more individuals wanting to start and expand their business, along with the need of businesses in rural Minnesota.

Please provide information on the planned use of the increased funds. Growth of business consultants to serve rural Minnesota and the underserved communities. One of our SBA mandates is to provide additional consulting those underserved.

Data on the populations served are valuable for program development and policy decisions. The intended customer of this program is not a business, therefore, no data on businesses who represent targeted groups - such as communities of color, individuals with disabilities, Veterans, or women - is available.

Yes

Please provide information on why your agency or department needs increased funds for this program.

Yes. Youth at Work doubled in funding for the SFY24-25 biennium and DEED still received more in requests than was available to award. Youth at Work funding is incredibly flexible and support youth through paid work experiences. Local partners use Youth at Work funding to leverage other state, federal, and philanthropic dollars.

Please provide information on the planned use of the increased funds. Fund more projects fully to ensure more youth have access to youth employment programs. Every year since 2013, the Youth at Work program has received more in funding requests than has been made available.

Source of Evidence: Several articles provide evidence proving earn and learn, combining related technical instruction and on-the-job training, as an effective model.

Does this program have an equity focus? Yes

Please describe what barriers get in the way of your program serving more diverse populations. While the Minnesota Dual-Training Pipeline supports employers in building their own inclusive dual-training programs, employers are the drivers of the programs. Since employers are the ones hiring, Minnesota Dual-Training Pipeline can and does work to encourage them to advance equity across groups but ultimately Minnesota Dual-Training Program does not control if and how employers we serve choose to include more diverse populations.

Source of Evidence: The evidence related to sustained employment and career planning for programs focused on supporting young people is broad and varied across many sources.

Does this program have an equity focus? Yes

Please describe what barriers get in the way of your program serving more diverse populations. Elements of Youth Skills Training are designed to serve all students, which means that providing an equity focus has been somewhat challenging. Providing funding through a competitive process allows the grantors to state priorities, including supporting underserved communities. Many YST grantees have proven success with prioritizing students of color and students living with low incomes. That said, the program consistently strives to provide services to all students while also prioritizing underserved groups.
